Re: [redacted] Ian v. [redacted] - default judgment packet

Dear Ian [redacted]

We looked through the documents you sent us. A few items appear worth checking before anything is filed or signed, so we listed them below in the order that may be most helpful.

Here are the items that may be worth checking before the documents are filed or signed:

□ The case number appears without hyphens as [redacted] throughout the new packet, while the court-accepted FL-100, FL-160, and FL-115 show [redacted] Making the case-number presentation consistent with the accepted filings may help avoid a filing or matching question.

□ FL-140, page 1, still shows [redacted] while MC-040 and the other new forms show [redacted] Please check which address is intended and make the packet consistent.

□ The court-accepted FL-160 shows a Gmail address, while the court-accepted FL-115 and the new packet show [redacted] MC-040, page 1, leaves its new-email field blank. Please check which email address is current and whether MC-040 should reflect any intended email change.

□ The In Pro Per Declaration lists FL-140 among the documentation described as prepared and filed, but FL-140 prominently says that declarations of disclosure and financial attachments are not to be filed with the court. The description may be clearer if the filing list and wording are checked so materials intended only for service do not appear to be included for filing.

□ FL-140, page 1, indicates that FL-142 and 2025 and 2026 tax forms are attached, but those items do not appear in the uploaded packet. Please check whether they are being provided separately and whether the attachment description matches the materials that will actually accompany FL-140 when it is served.

□ FL-140, page 1, describes the tax materials as '2025 and 2026 Tax Forms,' while the printed line refers to tax returns filed during the prior two years. That description may be worth checking so the years and the type of tax documents are clear and consistent.

□ FL-141, page 1, shows that the preliminary disclosure materials were sent by mail, but the service-date line appears blank. Adding the intended mailing date may help the form match the completed service event.

□ FL-180, page 1, selects the option stating that marital status ends 'on (specify date),' but the date after that selection appears blank. Please check whether an intended date should be entered before the proposed judgment is submitted.

□ FL-180, page 2, identifies FL-345 as an attachment, but item 5 leaves the number of attached pages blank. Because the FL-345 in this packet has two pages, the attachment count may need an entry or confirmation.

□ FL-180, page 2, shortens the respondent's name in the case-name line to [redacted]' while the other documents generally use [redacted]' The packet may be clearer if the intended name format is checked for consistency.

□ FL-345, page 1, lists the Fidelity retirement item as acquired on November 13, 2025, while the court-accepted FL-100 lists March 10, 2025, as the separation date. The same acquisition date appears on the accepted FL-160, but the chronology may still be worth checking so the repeated dates are intentional.

□ The In Pro Per Declaration, MC-040 page 1, FL-141, FL-170, FL-165, FL-150, and FL-140 contain signature or date lines that appear blank for the person making the statement. If these are pre-signature drafts, please make sure each intended signer and date is completed in the proper place before the document is used.

□ MC-040, page 2, also leaves the date of mailing blank on the proof of service. Please check that the mailing date, the server's date, and the server's signature are completed consistently after service occurs.

□ The In Pro Per Declaration, page 2, says that 'the amount of compensation ... were $0.00 fees.' The sentence may read more clearly if the singular subject and wording about the amount are made grammatically consistent.

Court Corrections is happy to help you make these corrections, or you may make the corrections yourself. We can also efile the documents for you, or you may efile them directly at EFileSystem.com. Please call us at Prime Court (774-632-6878) if you would like our help.

Sincerely,
